

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TO ALL THAT ARE CONCERNED IN THE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN.

My Friends,

It is an awful and important charge that is committed to you. The wisdom and welfare of the succeeding generation are intrusted with you before hand, and depend much on your conduct. The seeds of misery or happiness in this world, and that to come, are oftentimes sown very early; and, therefore, whatever may conduce to give the minds of children a relish for virtue and religion ought, in the first place, to be proposed to you.

Verse was at first designed for the service of God, though it hath been wretchedly abused since. The ancients among the Jews and the Heathens taught their children and disciples the precepts of morality and worship in verse. The children of Israel were commanded to learn the words of the song of Moses, Deut. xxxi. 19, 30; and we are directed in the New Testament, not only to sing "with grace in the heart," but to "teach and admonish one another by hymns and songs," Ephes. v. 19. And there are these four advantages in it:

- 1. There is a great delight in the very learning of truths and duties this way. There is something so amusing and entertaining in rhymes and metre that will incline children to make this part of their business a diversion. And you may turn their very duty into a reward, by giving them the privilege of learning one of these songs every week, if they fulfil the business of the week well, and promising them the book itself, when they have learned ten or twenty songs out of it.
- 2. What is learned in verse is longer retained in memory, and sooner recollected. The like sounds and the like number of syllables exceedingly assist the remembrance. And it may often happen that the end of a song, running in the mind, may be an effectual means to keep off some temptations, or to incline to some duty, when a word of scripture is not upon their thoughts.
- . 3. This will be a constant furniture for the minds of children, that they may have something to think upon when alone, and sing over to themselves. This may sometimes give their thoughts a divine turn, and raise a young meditation. Thus they will not be forced to seek relief for an emptiness of mind out of the loose and dangerous sonnets of the age.

4. These Divine Songs may be a pleasant and proper matter for their daily or weekly worship, to sing one in the family at such time as the parents or governors shall appoint; and therefore I have confined the verse to the most usual psalm tunes.

The greatest part of this little book was composed several years ago, at the request of a friend who has been long engaged in the work of catechising a very great number of children of all kinds, and with abundant skill and success. So that you will find here nothing that savours of a party: the children of high and low degree, of the Church of England or Dissenters, baptized in infancy or not, may all join together in these songs. And as I have endeavoured to sink the language to the level of a child's understanding, and yet to keep it, if possible, above contempt, so I have designed to profit all, if possible, and offend none. I hope the more general the sense is, these composures may be of the more universal use and service.

I have added at the end some attempts of sonnets on moral subjects, for children, with an air of pleasantry, to provoke some fitter pen to write a little book of them.

May the Almighty God make you faithful in this important work of education: may he succeed your cares with his abundant grace; that the rising generation of Great Britain may be a glory among the nations, a pattern to the Christian world, and a blessing to the earth!

TO THE PRESENT EDITION.

Whatever opinion may be entertained by connoisseurs as to the value of Dr. Watts's Hymns as "Poems," none can doubt the earnest piety which dictated them, nor the unmistakable popularity they have ever enjoyed, both at home and abroad, and which fully entitles them to be considered as genuine "Household Words."

Numerous as are the editions already published, more or less illustrated, none have as yet approached the standard of completeness or excellence which such popularity deserves.

The projectors of this effort fully believe that this want will be amply supplied by the production of the present edition. The names and number of the artists employed, together with the general care and finish bestowed throughout, they trust will be sufficient guarantee that their labour has not been in vain.

It may be well to add that the whole of the Illustrations have been arranged and engraved under the entire direction of Mr. James D. Cooper.

DIVINE SONGS.

CREATION AND PROVIDENCE.

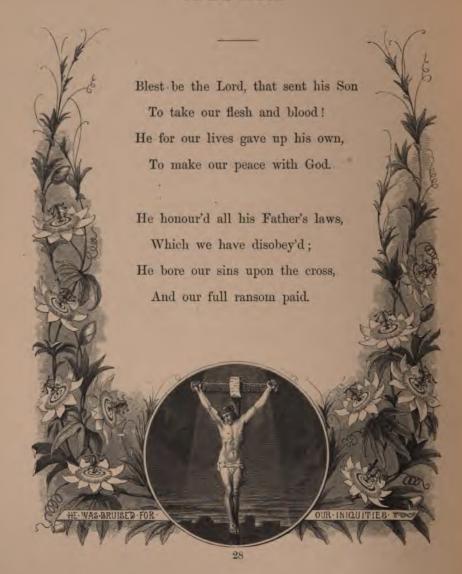

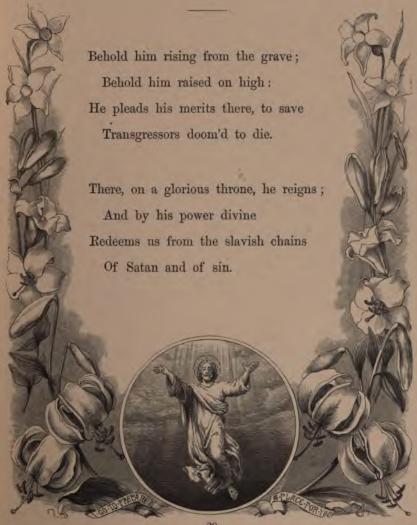

DIVINE SONGS.

FOR OUR REDEMPTION,

DIVINE SONGS.

Thence shall the Lord to judgment come;

And, with a sovereign voice,

Shall call and break up every tomb,

While waking saints rejoice.

O may I then with joy appear

Before the Judge's face;

And, with the blest assembly there,

Sing his redeeming grace.

PRAISE FOR MERCIES.

Whene'er I take my walks abroad, How many poor I see! What shall I render to my God For all his gifts to me?

Not more than others I deserve,
Yet God hath given me more:
For I have food, while others starve,
Or beg from door to door.

How many children in the street
Half naked I behold!
While I am clothed from head to feet,
And cover'd from the cold.

While some poor wretches scarce can tell
Where they may lay their head,
I have a home wherein to dwell,
And rest upon my bed.

While others early learn to swear,
And curse, and lie, and steal,
Lord, I am taught thy name to fear,
And do thy holy will.

Are these thy favours, day by day,

To me above the rest?

Then let me love thee more than they,

And try to serve thee best.

PRAISE FOR BIRTH AND EDUCATION IN A CHRISTIAN LAND.

GREAT GOD, to thee my voice I raise,
To thee my youngest hours belong:
I would begin my life with praise,
Till growing years improve the song.

That I was born on Christian ground;
Where streams of heavenly mercy flow,
And words of sweet salvation sound.

I would not change my native land
 For rich Peru, with all her gold:
 A nobler prize lies in my hand
 Than east or western Indies hold.

How do I pity those that dwell
Where ignorance and darkness reign!
They know no heaven—they fear no hell—
That endless joy—that endless pain.

Thy glorious premises, O Lord, Kindle my hopes and my desire: While all the preachers of thy word Warn me t' escape eternal fire.

Thy praise shall still employ my breath,
Since thou hast mark'd my way to heaven;
Nor will I run the road to death,
And waste the blessings thou hast given.

How glad the Heathens would have been, That worshipp'd idols, wood, and stone, If they the book of God had seen, Or Jesus and his gospel known!

Then, if the Gospel I refuse,

How shall I e'er lift up mine eyes?

For all the Gentiles and the Jews

Against me will in judgment rise.

Here are my choicest treasures hid; Here my best comfort lies; Here my desires are satisfied; And hence my joys arise.

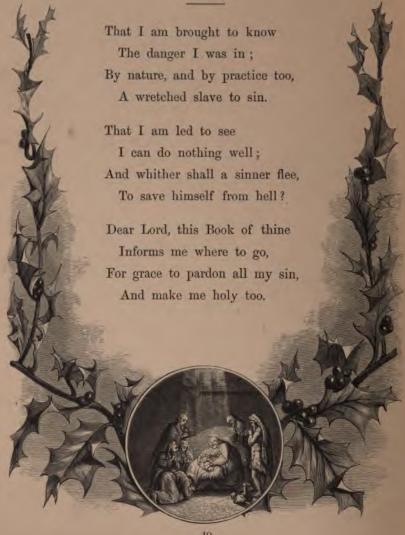

Lord, make me understand thy law; Show what my faults have been; And from thy Gospel let me draw Pardon for all my sin.

Here would I learn how Christ has died To save my soul from hell: Not all the books on earth beside Such heavenly wonders tell.

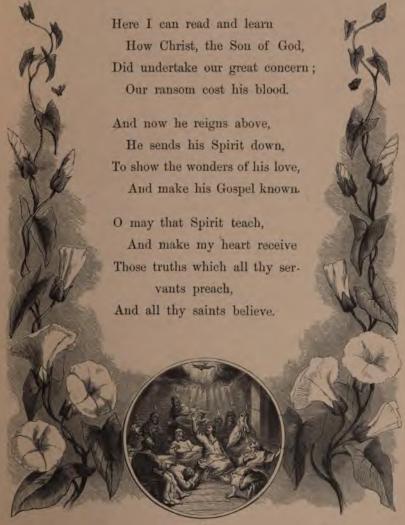

Then let me love my Bible more;
And take a fresh delight
By day to read these wonders o'er,
And meditate by night.

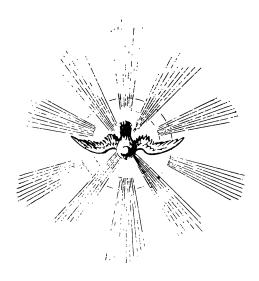

LEARNING TO READ.

Then shall I praise the Lord
In a more cheerful strain,
That I was taught to read his Word,
And have not learnt in vain.

THE ALL-SEEING GOD.

Almighty God, thy piercing eye
Strikes through the shades of night,
And our most secret actions lie
All open to thy sight.

There's not a sin that we commit,

Nor wicked word we say,
But in thy dreadful book 'tis writ

Against the judgment-day.

And must the crimes that I have done
Be read and publish'd there;
Be all exposed before the sun,
While men and angels hear?

Lord, at thy feet ashamed I lie; Upward I dare not look: Pardon my sins before I die, And blot them from thy book.

Remember all the dying pains
That my Redeemer felt;
And let his blood wash out my stains,
And answer for my guilt.

O may I now for ever fear
T' indulge a sinful thought,
Since the great God can see and hear,
And writes down ev'ry fault!

There is a Gospel of rich grace,
Whence sinners all their comforts draw:
Lord, I repent, and seek thy face,
For I have often broke thy law.

There is an hour when I must die,

Nor do I know how soon 'twill come;

A thousand children, young as I,

Are call'd by death to hear their doom.

Let me improve the hours I have, Before the day of grace is fled: There's no repentance in the grave, No pardon offer'd to the dead.

Just as a tree cut down, that fell
To north or southward, there it lies,
So man departs to heaven or hell,
Fix'd in the state wherein he dies.

There is a dreadful hell,

And everlasting pains:

There sinners must with devils dwell

In darkness, fire, and chains.

Can such a wretch as I

Escape this cursed end?

And may I hope, whene'er I die,
I shall to heaven ascend?

Then will I read and pray,

While I have life and breath,

Lest I should be cut off to-day,

And sent t' eternal death.

'Tis easier work if we begin
To fear the Lord betimes;
While sinners, that grow old in sin,
Are harden'd in their crimes.

'Twill save us from a thousand snares
To mind religion young:
Grace will preserve our following years,
And make our virtue strong.

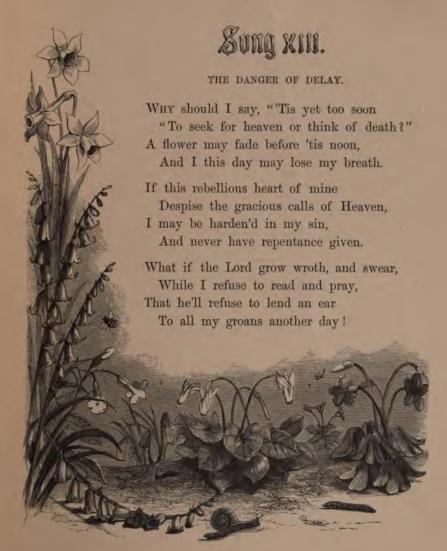

To thee, Almighty God, to thee
Our childhood we resign:
'Twill please us to look back and see
That our whole lives were thine.

Let the sweet work of prayer and praise Employ my youngest breath!

Thus I'm prepared for longer days,

Or fit for early death.

What if his dreadful anger burn,
While I refuse his offer'd grace,
And all his love to anger turn,
And strike me dead upon the place!

'Tis dangerous to provoke a God!

His power and vengeance none can tell:

One stroke of his almighty rod

Shall send young sinners quick to hell.

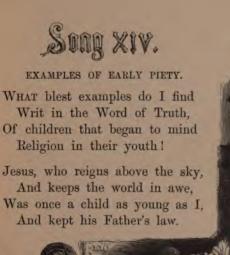

Then 'twill for ever be in vain

To cry for pardon or for grace;

To wish I had my time again,

Or hope to see my Maker's face.

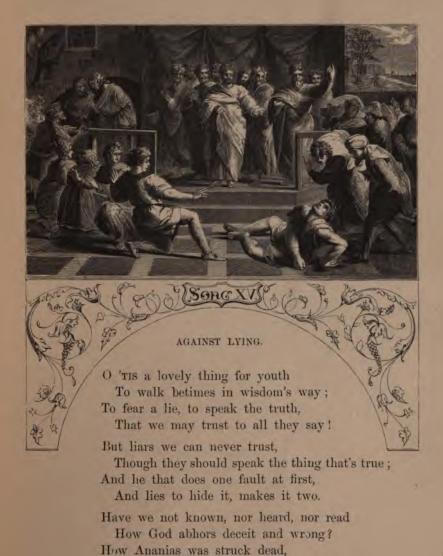

At twelve years old he talk'd with men,
(The Jews all wondering stand;)
Yet he obey'd his Mother then,
And came at her command.

Children a sweet hosanna sung,
And blest their Saviour's name;
They gave him honour with their tongue,
While scribes and priests blaspheme.

Samuel the child was wean'd and brought
To wait upon the Lord:
Young Timothy betimes was taught
To know his holy Word.

Then why should I so long delay What others learnt so soon? I would not pass another day Without this work begun.

Caught with a lie upon his tongue?

So did his wife Sapphira die,
When she came in, and grew so bold
As to confirm that wicked lie,
Which just before her husband told.

The Lord delights in them that speak

The words of truth; but every liar

Must have his portion in the lake

That burns with brimstone and with fire.

Then let me always watch my lips, Lest I be struck to death and hell, Since God a book of reckoning keeps For every lie that children tell.

But, children, you should never let Such angry passions rise: Your little hands were never made To tear each other's eyes,

Let love through all your actions run, And all your words be mild: Live like the blessed Virgin's Son, That sweet and lovely child.

His soul was gentle as a lamb;
And as his stature grew,
He grew in favour both with man,
And God his Father, too.

Now, Lord of all, he reigns above;
And from his heavenly throne
He sees what children dwell in love,
And marks them for his own.

LOVE BETWEEN BROTHERS AND SISTERS.

Whatever brawls disturb the street,
There should be peace at home;
Where sisters dwell and brothers meet
Quarrels should never come.

Birds in their little nests agree; And 'tis a shameful sight, When children of one family Fall out, and chide, and fight.

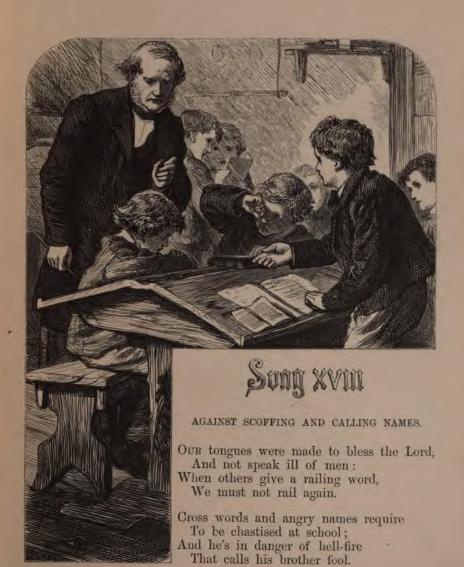

Hard names at first, and threatening words,
That are but noisy breath,
May grow to clubs and naked swords,
To murder and to death.

The devil tempts one mother's son To rage against another: So wicked Cain was hurried on, Till he had kill'd his brother.

The wise will let their anger cool,
At least before 'tis night;
But in the bosom of a fool
It burns till morning light.

Pardon, O Lord, our childish rage, Our little brawls remove, That, as we grow to riper age, Our hearts may all be love!

But lips that dare be so profane
To mock, and jeer, and scoff
At holy things, or holy men,
The Lord shall cut them off.

When children, in their wanton play, Served old Elisha so, And bade the prophet go his way, 'Go up, thou bald head, go!'

God quickly stopp'd their wicked breath; And sent two raging bears, That tore them limb from limb to death, With blood, and groans, and tears.

Great God! how terrible art thou
To sinners e'er so young:
Grant me thy grace, and teach me how
To tame and rule my tongue.

And yet how wicked children dare
Abuse thy dreadful, glorious Name!
And when they're angry, how they swear,
And curse their fellows, and blaspheme!

How will they stand before thy face,
Who treated thee with such disdain,
While thou shalt doom them to the place
Of everlasting fire and pain?

Then never shall one cooling drop

To quench their burning tongues be given;
But I will praise thee here, and hope

Thus to employ my tongue in heaven.

My heart shall be in pain to hear Wretches affront the Lord above: 'Tis that great God whose power I fear, That heavenly Father whom I love.

If my companions grow profane,
I'll leave their friendship when I hear
Young sinners take thy Name in vain,
And learn to curse, and learn to swear.

How skilfully she builds her cell!

How neat she spreads the wax!

And labours hard to store it well

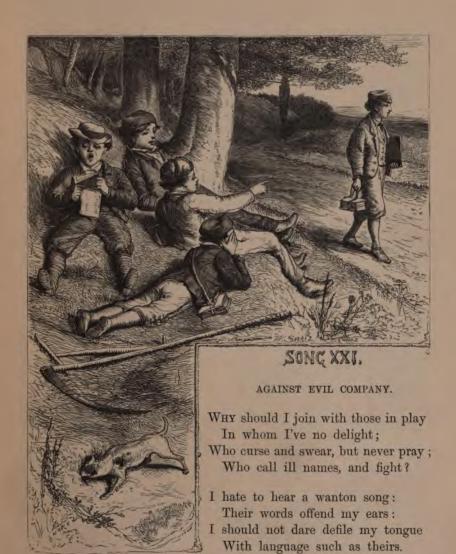

With the sweet food she makes.

In works of labour or of skill I would be busy too:

For Satan finds some mischief still For idle hands to do.

In books, or work, or healthful play
Let my first years be past,
That I may give for every day
Some good account at last.

Away from fools I'll turn my eyes,
Nor with the scoffers go:
I would be walking with the wise,
That wiser I may grow.

From one rude boy, that's used to mock,
They learn the wicked jest:
One sickly sheep infects the flock,
And poisons all the rest.

My God, I hate to walk or dwell With sinful children here: Then let me not be sent to hell, Where none but sinners are.

PRIDE IN CLOTHES.

Then will I set my heart to find Inward adornings of the mind: Knowledge and virtue, truth and grace, These are the robes of richest dress. No more shall worms with me compare, This is the raiment angels wear: The Son of God, when here below, Put on this blest apparel too. It never fades, it ne'er grows old, Nor fears the rain, nor moth, nor mould: It takes no spot, but still refines; The more 'tis worn, the more it shines.

In this on earth would I appear,
Then go to heaven, and wear it there:
God will approve it in his sight;
'Tis his own work, and his delight.

OBEDIENCE TO PARENTS.

LET children that would fear the Lord Hear what their teachers say; With reverence meet their parents' word, And with delight obey.

73

Have you not heard what dreadful plagues
Are threaten'd by the Lord,
To him that breaks his father's law,
Or mocks his mother's word?

What heavy guilt upon him lies!

How cursed is his name!

The ravens shall pick out his eyes,

And eagles eat the same.

But those who worship God, and give
Their parents honour due,
Here on this earth they long shall live,
And live hereafter, too.

Why should I love my sports so well, So constant at my play, And lose the thoughts of heaven and hell,

And then forget to pray?

How skilfully she builds her cell!

How neat she spreads the wax!

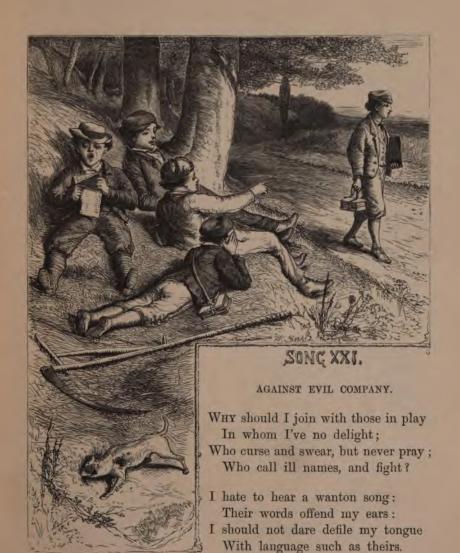

And labours hard to store it well

With the sweet food she makes.

In works of labour or of skill
I would be busy too:
For Satan finds some mischief still
For idle hands to do.

In books, or work, or healthful play Let my first years be past, That I may give for every day Some good account at last.

When from the chambers of the east His morning race begins, He never tires, nor stops to rest, But round the world he shines.

So, like the sun, would I fulfil
The business of the day;
Begin my work betimes, and still
March on my heavenly way.

Give me, O Lord, thy early grace,
Nor let my soul complain
That the young morning of my days
Has all been spent in vain!

But how my childhood runs to waste
My sins how great their sum!
Lord, give me pardon for the past,
And strength for days to come.

I lay my body down to sleep,

Let angels guard my head;

And, through the hours of darkness, keep

Their watch around my bed.

With cheerful heart I close mine eyes, Since thou wilt not remove; And in the morning let me rise Rejoicing in thy love.

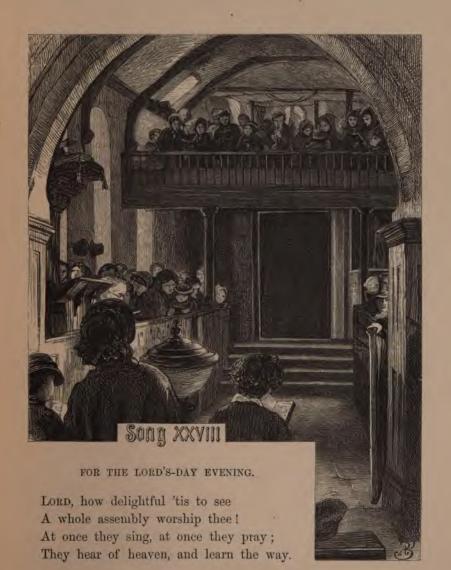

This is the day when Jesus broke
The powers of death and hell;
And shall I still wear Satan's yoke,
And love my sins so well?

To-day, with pleasure, Christians meet,
To pray, and hear thy Word;
And I would go with cheerful feet
To learn thy will, O Lord!

I'll leave my sport, to read and pray, And so prepare for heaven: O may I love this blessed day The best of all the seven!

I have been there, and still would go 'Tis like a little heaven below! Not all my pleasure and my play Should tempt me to forget this day.

O write upon my memory, Lord, The text and doctrines of thy Word; That I may break thy laws no more, But love thee better than before!

With thoughts of Christ and things divine Fill up this foolish heart of mine:
That, hoping pardon through his blood,
I may lie down, and wake with God.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

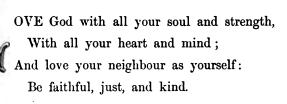

- 1. Thou shalt have no more Gods but me.
- 2. Before no idol bow thy knee.
- 3. Take not the Name of God in vain:
- 4. Nor dare the Sabbath-day profane.
- 5. Give both thy parents honour due.
- 6. Take heed that thou no murder do.
- 7. Abstain from words and deeds unclean:
- 8. Nor steal, though thou art poor and mean
- 9. Nor make a wilful lie, nor love it.
- 10. What is thy neighbour's dare not covet.

ITH all thy soul love God above; And as thyself thy neighbour love.

DUTY TO GOD AND OUR NEIGHBOUR.

Deal with another as you'd have
Another deal with you:
What you're unwilling to receive,
Be sure you never do.

OUR SAVIOUR'S GOLDEN RULE.

B

E you to others kind and true,
As you'd have others be to you;
And neither do nor say to men
Whate'er you would not take again.

THE HOSANNA; OR SALVATION ASCRIBED TO CHRIST.

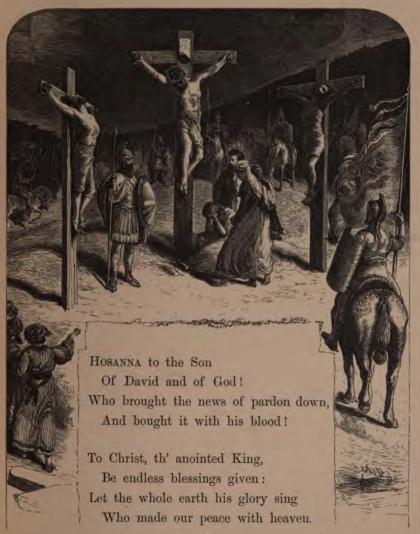

OSANNA to king David's Son,
Who reigns on a superior throne!
We bless the Prince of heavenly birth,
Who brings salvation down to earth.

Let every nation, every age, In this delightful work engage; Old men and babes in Sion sing The growing glories of her King!

Hosanna to the Prince of Grace; Sion, behold thy King! Proclaim the Son of David's race, And teach the babes to sing.

Hosanna to the eternal Word,
Who from the Father came;
Ascribe salvation to the Lord,
With blessings on his Name!

GLORY TO THE FATHER,

O God the Father, God the Son, And God the Spirit, Three in One, Be honour, praise, and glory given, By all on earth, and all in heaven.

OW let the Father, and the Son,
And Spirit be adored,
Where there are works to make him known,
Or saints to love the Lord.

TO THE SON, ETC.

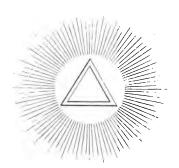

IVE to the Father praise,

Give glory to the Son,

And to the Spirit of his Grace

Be equal honour done.

MORAL SONGS.

A SLIGHT SPECIMEN;

Such as I wish some happy and condescending genius would undertake for the use of children, and perform much better.

The sense and subjects might be borrowed plentifully from the Proverbs of Solomon, from all the common appearances of nature, from all the occurrences of civil life, both in city and country (which would also afford matter for other divine songs). Here the language and measures should be easy, and flowing with cheerfulness, with or without the solemnities of religion, or the sacred names of God and holy things: that children might find delight and profit together.

This would be one effectual way to deliver them from those idle, wanton, or profane songs, which give so early an ill taint to the fancy and memory; and become the seeds of future vices.

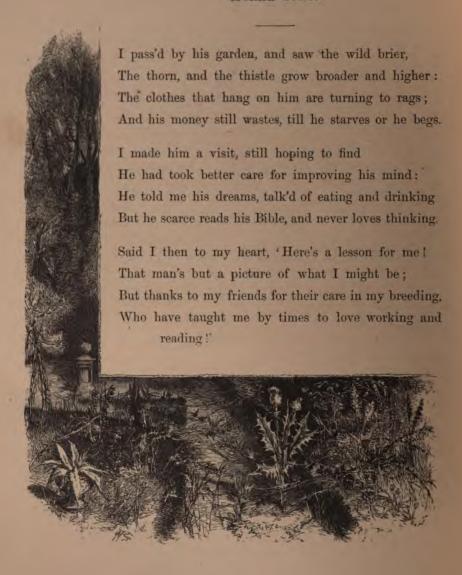

Songt.

THE SLUGGARD.

'Tis the voice of the Sluggard: I heard him complain,
'You have waked me too soon! I must slumber again!'
As the door on its hinges, so he on his bed
Turns his sides, and his shoulders, and his heavy head.

'A little more sleep, and a little more slumber!'
Thus he wastes half his days and his hours without number;
And when he gets up he sits folding his hands,
Or walks about sauntering, or trifling he stands.

MORAL SONGS

INNOCENT PLAY.

ABROAD in the meadows, to see the young lambs
Run sporting about by the side of their dams,
With fleeces so clean and so white;
Or a nest of young doves in a large open cage,
When they play all in love, without anger or rage,
How much may we learn from the sight

MORAL SONGS.

If we had been ducks, we might dabble in mud;
Or dogs, we might play till it ended in blood:
So foul and so fierce are their natures;
But Thomas and William, and such pretty names,
Should be cleanly and harmless as doves or as lambs,
Those lovely sweet innocent creatures.

Not a thing that we do, nor a word that we say,
Should injure another in jesting or play;
For he's still in earnest that's hurt:
How rude are the boys that throw pebbles and mire;
There's none but a madman will fling about fire,
And tell you, "'Tis all but in sport."

The glory of April and May:
But the leaves are beginning to fade in an hour,
And they wither and die in a day.

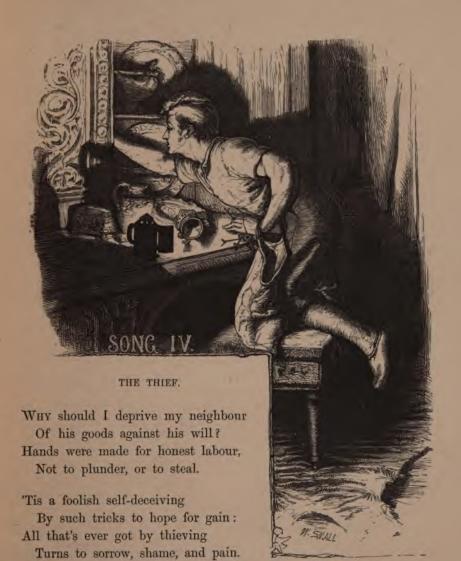

MORAL SONGS.

Yet the Rose has one powerful virtue to boast,
Above all the flowers of the field!
When its leaves are all dead and fine colours are lost,
Still how sweet a perfume it will yield!

So frail is the youth and the beauty of man,
Though they bloom and look gay like the Rose;
But all our fond care to preserve them is vain,
Time kills them as fast as he goes.

Then I'll not be proud of my youth and my beauty,
Since both of them wither and fade;
But gain a good name by well doing my duty:
This will scent like a Rose when I'm dead.

MORAL SONGS.

Have not Eve and Adam taught us
Their sad profit to compute,
To what dismal state they brought us
When they stole forbidden fruit?

Oft we see a young beginner
Practise little pilfering ways,
Till grown up a harden'd sinner,
Then the gallows ends his days.

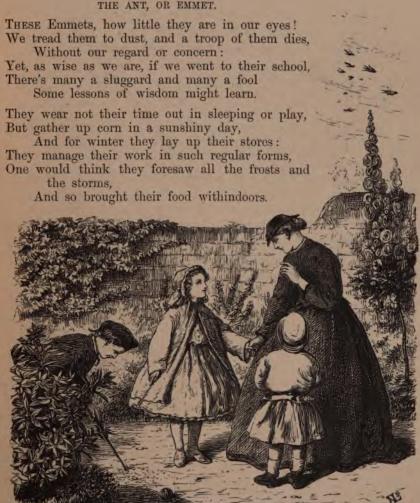

Theft will not be always hidden,
Though we fancy none can spy:
When we take a thing forbidden,
God beholds it with his eye.

Guard my heart, O God of heaven,
Lest I covet what's not mine;
Lest I steal what is not given,
Guard my heart and hands from sin.

Song v.

THE ANT, OR EMMET.

But I have less sense than a poor creeping Ant,
If I take not due care for the things I shall want,
Nor provide against dangers in time;
When death or old age shall once stare in my face,
What a wretch shall I be in the end of my days,
If I trifle away all their prime!

Now, now, while my strength and my youth are in bloom,
Let me think what shall serve me when sickness shall come,
And pray that my sins be forgiven.
Let me read in good books, and believe, and obey;
That, when death turns me out of this cottage of clay,
I may dwell in a palace in heaven.

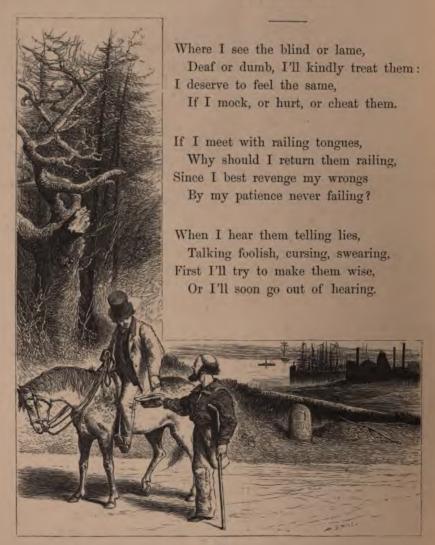

Though I'm now in younger days,

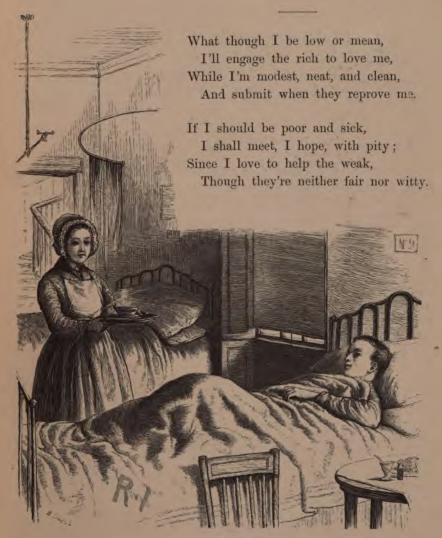

Nor can tell what shall befall me,
I'll prepare for every place

Where my growing age shall call me.

Should I e'er be rich or great,
Others shall partake my goodness
I'll supply the poor with meat,
Never shewing scorn or rudeness.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

I'll not willingly offend,

Nor be easily offended:

What's amiss I'll strive to mend,

And endure what can't be mended.

May I be so watchful still
O'er my humours and my passion,
As to speak and do no ill,
Though it should be all the fashion.

Wicked fashions lead to hell;

Ne'er may İ be found complying;
But in life behave so well,

Not to be afraid of dying.

How fine has the day been! how bright was the sun! How lovely and joyful the course that he run; Though he rose in a mist when his race he begun,

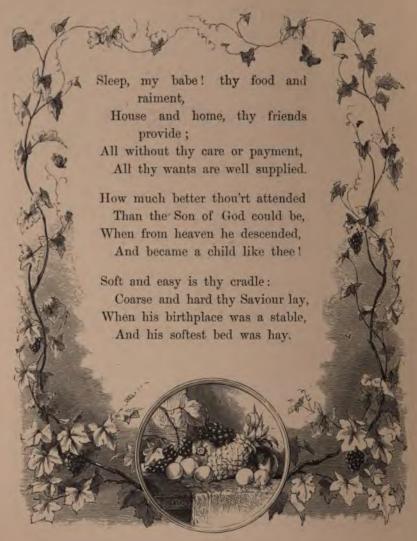

And there follow'd some droppings of rain:
But now the fair traveller's come to the west,
His rays are all gold, and his beauties are best;
He paints the skies gay as he sinks to his rest,
And foretells a bright rising again.

Just such is the Christian. His course he begins
Like the sun in a mist, while he mourns for his sins,
And melts into tears! then he breaks out and shines,
And travels his heavenly way:
But when he comes nearer to finish his race,
Like a fine setting sun, he looks richer in grace;
And gives a sure hope, at the end of his days,
Of rising in brighter array.

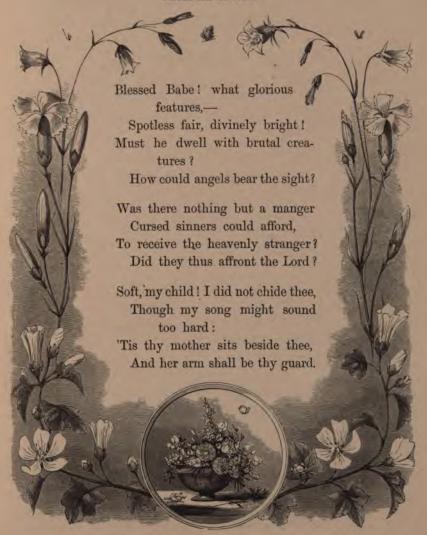

VIII.—CRADLE HYMN.

CRADLE HYMN.

CRADLE HYMN.

I could give thee thousand kisses!

Hoping what I most desire,

Not a mother's fondest wishes

Can to greater joys aspire!
